-- HVHS Launches Website -- Full Service Animal Welfare Source

POMONA, NY – September 29, 2006: The Hudson Valley Humane Society announce the launch of their website at www.hvhumane.org. The site incorporates cutting-edge technology and design thanks to AXA Solutions, Inc. Haemimont A.D., a technology design firm based in midtown Manhattan and Bulgaria – all of whom served in a volunteer capacity. www.hvhumane.org went live at 12:01am today. Visitors should bookmark the site and visit frequently for up to the minute animal welfare news including: adoptions, boarding at Pomona Park Kennel, humane law enforcement, free ID tags, special events, education, pet therapy, a special section for kids, and much more.

"Visitors will discover a bevy of information here and above all, find the site useful" cited Ray Mundy, President. He continued, "The designers listened to our needs and worked closely with us, as a result we are proud to have a first class product for the public."

"Down the road the site will have the capability to book boarding reservations and to observe the pets with our pet-cam. This will give visitors the ability to check in on their beloved pets boarded with us as well as preview pets for adoption – how great is that!" commented Ann Marie Gaudio, Marketing Director.
